

Sky Valley Property Owners Association Newsletter – August 9, 2017

Join us August 16 for Mainspring Conservation Trust

Our next program is Mainspring Conservation Trust in Franklin, NC. Mainspring helps landowners and community members conserve land, water and cultural resources in the Little Tennessee and Hiwassee River basins that cover six North Carolina counties (Cherokee, Clay, Swain, Macon, Jackson and Graham) and Rabun County, Georgia.

Hear about their ongoing projects on Wednesday, August 16, at 3 PM in the Lakeview Room of the Sky Valley Country Club.

Thank you to the folks who have already joined or renewed your POA membership! Please consider paying your 2018 dues BEFORE the December 1 deadline so you'll be included in the membership directory that we'll distribute next spring. The fragile sanity of your treasurer and secretary depend on avoiding a last-minute crush.

Pay by check: Download and print a membership form, clearly print all the information you want to appear in the directory and return to the treasurer with your check (address is on the form).

Pay online: Accept the invitation that was emailed to you in July or join and pay online at MemberPlanet.

Information and links are on the POA website. If you have questions, please contact secretary Debbie Dalhouse Curtis at info@skyvalleypoa.net 706-746-7396.

Also on our website is an informative video about the August 21 total eclipse. The National Geographic video is shared by the Rabun County Tourism Development Authority, courtesy of Sky Valley POA member Laura Gurley.

We look forward to seeing you soon!
